

"Where do you really live?" - online quiz promotes open data

Submitted on 19 Nov 2013 by

Players can confront their own intuitive perception of their territory with the information provided by open public data. They can also start realizing just how useful open data can be!

You can also read more about it (in French) here.

