Description

The City of Brussels pays special attention to comic books. Since the early 90s, it pays tribute to characters and authors of the Franco-Belgian comics on the walls in the Pentagon (city centre) and Laeken. The comic book route is a map with all the street art paintings on comic books in Brussels. The route has its' own section on the website of the municipality of Brussels.

Benefits

The comic book route stimulates tourism by providing visitors with a map of these artworks, which are characteristic for Belgium culture. The website stimulates tourists to visit contemporary art sites.

How open data is used

Data on the geographical location of the comic book street art works is used to make a map for visitors. The website provides visitors with an address list, a map, photos and videos of the comic book art works. The purpose is to help visitors navigate Brussels and find these artworks.
