Description

QEdu is a website created for those that use, work in or make policy decision about education. Its aim is to make educational data accessible and easy to digest for everyone. The website later inspired various research studies, for example the "Excelência com Equidade" study conducted by the Lemann Foundation and Itaú BBA Bank that investigated public schools hosting students of low socioeconomic status. The results led to 215 successful case studies bringing forward students of low socioeconomic status that obtained results with distinction.

Benefits

QEdu offers reliable data for educational managers to implement changes to education systems.

How open data is used

QEdu monitors education results of from various databases such as Prova Brasil, Censo Escolar, Ideb and Enem from the Ministry of Education in Brazil. Of particular interest are the datasets related to the quality assessment of the Brazilian school system.
