Quick facts

 Company:	BrokenLifts
 Sector:	Transport
 Product / service:	Website
 Type of data:	Open local transport providers' data
 Origin:	Germany

Description

BrokenLifts is a Berlin-focused website that visualises broken lifts from public transport stations. On the website, users can see a list of all public transport stations that report a broken lift and which of the lifts at the station are broken. The project received the German mobility award in 2016.

Benefits

Everyone who depends on functioning lifts stays informed and can plan ahead.

How open data is used

The website publishes an up-to-date overview on broken lifts in the city of Berlin. To do this, BrokenLifts uses data published by the municipal transport service provider of Berlin, Brandenburg, and the S-Bahn.
