Description

OmgevingsAlert is a Dutch App that tracks all permits and real estate updates for several Dutch municipalities. This app is free and based on data shared by municipalities themselves.

Benefits

People don't have to spit through newspapers to see the latest requested or granted permits. You can also install notifications for cities and regions you are interested in.

How open data is used

The app is based on open data released by municipalities themselves through the government. The app is free of charge.
