Description

Ártabro Tech is a technology consulting company that helps companies with data treatment and in using artificial intelligence. Ártabro offers products such as Ártabro Tender for monitoring public competition tenders, or tools for technological surveillance including automatic text tagging, natural language processing, as well as various customised consulting services for Industry 4.0 and business intelligence solutions.

Benefits

Ártabro offers users an analysis of the client data, the competition's data and the bidding organisms. In doing so, they help their clients improve informed decision making.

How open data is used

For consulting projects, the company uses both public and private data. In the case of Ártabro Tender, public tender data from the contracting portal of the State and Regions is used as well as public procurement data from South America and Europe. Soon, data from the U.S., Canada, and Australia will be included as well.
