Description

Open Data Watch is an international, non-profit organization working at the intersection of open data and official statistics. Our work supports the implementation of change in the production and management of official statistical data.

Benefits

Besides raising awareness for the importance of open data, they have a dedicated section to COVID-19. They provide information about available datasets, dashboards, visualizations, and relevant articles on how to understand and use data to fight the spread of COVID-19.

How open data is used

The Open Data Watch is based in the USA but provides open data sources from all over the world. They answer relevant questions and provide links to all sources and data they use.
