

URL <https://transitscreen.com/products/citymotion>

Quick facts

-  Company: TransitScreen
-  Sector: Transport
-  Product / service: Application
-  Type of data: Transportation data
-  Origin: United States of America

Benefits

-  CityMotion allows users to customise their information settings so that the application shows data that users prioritise first when the application opens.
-  The application allows users to order cars and reserve bicycles.

How open data is used

-  TransitScreen collects data from different transportation agencies in the United States of America and presents the information on the CityMotion application.

Description

-  CityMotion is an application from the company TransitScreen. It is a commuting application that shows what information the user wants to see most first, such as subway information, availability of electric scooters and ridesharing options.